

Rescue Services Rutland (RSR) are among the Armed Forces Covenant

2023 Silver ERS winners in the East Midlands

Rescue Services Rutland (RSR) have been one of a group of 38 businesses from Derbyshire, Leicestershire, Lincolnshire, Nottinghamshire, Northamptonshire, and Rutland that have gone one step further to evidence what they have and will continue to do to ensure their workplaces remain Forces friendly.

For this commitment, they were each awarded the Silver Award from the Ministry of Defence's Employer Recognition Scheme.

Cathie Gwilliam will be representing RSR at an awards ceremony hosted at the National Space Centre on 28th September.

What a Silver award means to RSR:

A Silver Award means we can give well-earned recognition to the dedication of our members in supporting our activities and those of the Armed Forces.

Many of our members are veterans and serving members of our Armed Forces who give their spare time to support many forms of voluntary motorsport across the country.

It demonstrates Rescue Services Rutlands' continued commitment to supporting those who serve.

Summary of our organisation:

Not for profit, volunteer lead organisation (currently seeking charity status) providing event medical and rescue support to primarily motorsport activities.

RSR who are based in Rutland, cover the whole of the UK including the islands of Man, Mull, and Anglesey.

We can provide rescue, medical and recovery facilities for Race, Rally, Sprint, Hill Climb, Karting, Competition Safari, and Autocross plus NASA events, etc.
